Judge Simon Parsons

I have been involved with the world of dogs since I was a schoolboy, my family obtaining their first Pembroke Corgi in the mid 1960s. Since then the Deavitt kennel has produced champions in Pembrokes and Cardigans, and today I also share ownership of the Oregonian Pembrokes with two friends.

I have also owned a Basenji, a Dachshunds, Pekingese and Whippets and currently live with three French Bulldogs. My interest in Bull Terriers and Miniatures began when I used to help Betty Howard-Williams of the Delantero kennel with her dogs, and I've been fascinated by both breeds ever since.

I first awarded CCs in Pembrokes in 1986 and in Bull Terriers and Minis in 1992, doing both breeds at Crufts in 2007, and have been the only non-specialist to judge the Bull Terrier Club's major trophies.

I have worked for Dog World newspaper since 1978. I was thrilled to be asked to judge at your first show and wish the club all the best for the future. After the long-awaited breakthrough with a test for PLL it is an exciting time for the breed – good luck to you all in your breeding plans in the years ahead.
